3:00 PM - 3:45 PM (EST) - Dashboard Confessionals: From Trialing to Implementation During a Pandemic

Speaker: Courtney Cooney, Stephanie Pavlica

Dashboards are often created to visually depict statistics that many libraries gather to review services. It shows trends and variances in data, and can often be used as key tools for stakeholders. The first dashboard created was based on how the pandemic affected services in the following areas: Electronic Resources, Reference, Circulation and Archives/Special Collections. This presentation will discuss the several steps taken from trialing to implementation, which were all performed during the pandemic.

4:15 PM - 5:00 PM (EST) - I've Got a Blank Space, Baby

Speaker: Rachel Minkin, Terri Miller, John Szilagyi, Erin Weller

Although many library remodels DON'T begin with a blank space, they do begin with a stimulus - something must change. What drives public space evolution? How do we plan for inevitable change? What if that change is driven by factors outside of our control? Join library personnel in this moderated discussion group of evolving models of public spaces within two very different institutions: a community college and a public university.
